

MYSTERY IN RICH GIRL'S DEATH IN JERSEY HOSPITAL

Newark Authorities Investigate Case of Mary Vleit, Victim of Peritonitis.

The circumstances surrounding the death of peritonitis of Miss Mary Vleit, of Blairstown, N. J., are being investigated by the office of the County Prosecutor of Essex County to-day.

Miss Vleit is the daughter of Daniel Vleit, a wealthy landowner. She died yesterday in St. Michael's Hospital, in Newark, and the attending symptoms were such that the hospital immediately notified the county authorities. The young woman was twenty-seven years old and of great beauty and refinement. She had been brought to the hospital in an automobile at 2 A. M. yesterday in a semi-comatose state. A few minutes after her death she regained consciousness for a few minutes. She was told that she must die, and the attending physician asked her the name of the man who had brought her to Newark. She was asked other questions which would help out a history of her case, and to all of them she shook her head. Once she said, "Don't ask me, I will say nothing." Upon the report made to County Prosecutor Young by County Physician Elliott, who last night performed the autopsy on the body of Miss Vleit, the police to-day are looking for the cabman who carried the young woman and a male companion from the Jersey Central Railroad station last Monday afternoon to the private hospital kept by Mrs. Cornelius Zahn, at No. 41 Chadwick avenue.

The police have questioned Mrs. Zahn, and she says that Miss Vleit was brought to her establishment by a tall, good-looking young man, who called her "Kid." She addressed him as "Van," and seemed to think a great deal of him. She became very ill Wednesday night, and Dr. J. Gietzmaier, who examined her, found her condition so serious that he sent her in his automobile to St. Michael. Mrs. Zahn told the police that she never heard "Van's" second name. She said that the cabman who brought them to her place was a public hackman, and she could identify him.

The Vleit family, of Warren County, is one of the best known in Northern New Jersey. Many prominent professional and business men in the State bear the name.

FAINTS IN COURT AS HE CALLS BROTHER A FORGER.

Bernard Schiff Is Carried Out, While Emil Is Held in $500 Bail.

Bernard Schiff, forty-eight years old, of No. 32 Riverside Drive, fainted away when he mounted the bridge in the Hudson Police Court to-day to swear against his younger brother, Emil Schiff, a bookkeeper, of No. 460 West One Hundred and Seventeenth street, who had been arrested on his complaint upon a charge of forgery. Bernard said that Emil had written his name upon a check for $2 drawn upon the Metropolitan Bank, which was cashed by an Amsterdam Avenue branch. The older man wept as he began his testimony and wound up by dropping unconscious. He was carried into a private room, where he revived. Emil Schiff was held in bonds of $500 by Magistrate Crane.
